2. John's mother: Are you reading a comic book, John?

John: No, I'm studying math.

John's mother: It's sunny today. Can you take your sister to the park?

John: Sure.

John's mother: Thank you. She wants to play tennis.

John: OK. I'll change my clothes.

Question: What is John doing now?

(listen again.)

3. Emma: Dad, can I use your computer?

Emma's father: Sorry, Emma, I'm using it now. You can use it after me.

Emma: OK. How long are you going to use it?

Emma's father: For about an hour. You can use it at about three.

Emma: I see. I'll wait then.

Question: How long will Emma's father use his computer?

(listen again.)

4. Mary: You always wear a black T-shirt. Do you like black, Bob?

Bob: Not so much.

Mary: Then why do you wear a black T-shirt every day?

Bob: Because I don't want to spend much time choosing clothes. I have a lot of black T-shirts.

Mary: How many black T-shirts do you have?

Bob: Maybe, five.

Question: Why does Bob wear a black T-shirt every day?

Fred: What did you do last Sunday, Sakura?

Sakura: I went to the library to return books in the morning. Then, I had lunch at a restaurant with Kumi.

Fred: You mean the new restaurant near the river?

Sakura: Yes. We were able to see the beautiful river from there. After that, we wanted to go to the museum, but the bridge near the museum was closed.

Fred: That's too bad.

Sakura: We decided to use another bridge to get there. We found a good cafe in front of the bridge, so we had coffee and then went to the museum.

Fred: Sounds like you had a very good time. I want to go to that cafe next time.
